which will work effectively. To him, Senator Harding, "without a single program constructive in character," will be placed in the attitude of a candidate seeking to make a political football of the League.

Political football players, it may be added, aren't especially desirable White House material. —Missouri State Journal.

Spencer Caught in Another—

Senator Spencer has caught the contagion of Republican speakers and makes such statements as seemeth best to impress the voters of the country. statement that the "President had promised military aid to Rumania and Serbia in the event of the invasion of those countries." Secretary Tumulty informed Spencer that the statement was false, but Spencer said that Tumulty had never consulted the President and had issued the denial on his own responsibility. Now the President in the language of a gentleman calls Spencer a liar.

Here is the letter: "Senator Palmer Spencer, St Louis, Mo.: I have just been shown your statement that my secretary's denial of the previous statement by you that I had promised military aid to Rumanians and Serbs was issued by him without my knowledge and sanction, and that you did not for a moment believe that I had made any such denial, or that the matter was ever called to my attention. I wish to state that your statement was called to my attention by Mr. Tumulty, and I requested him to issue the denial to which you refer. I reiterate the denial. The statement you made was false.

McDANELD & WILEY

Mr. Harding Can't Make up His Mind.

At last Mr. Harding is out in the open. We know where he really stands regarding the greatest question before the American people today—a question upon which every intelligent American should have reached a decision. Mr. Harding says: "I'm perfectly frank to say to you that I am without a single program constructive in character about an association of nations." A member of the United States Senate when Woodrow Wilson first announced his plan for a League of Nations, a member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, a participant in the long treaty debate which was waged in the Senate and Republican nominee for President of the United States, Senator Warren G. Harding, by his own confession, looks "a single program, constructive in character about an association of nations." The Wilson program for a League of Nations, of course, is all wrong because Mr. Wilson is a Democrat and it would never do for an Old Guard Senator to see good in any Democrat's ideas.

The Wilson program may be unthinkable to Mr. Harding, despite his inability to offer a better one, but the average man who wants world peace will cling to the League of Nations until he is shown a concrete plan

It Makes Every Forkful of Manure Count for a Bigger Yield

ASK any user of the John Deere Spreader and he will tell you it is the best machinery investment he ever made—not only because it saves hard work and valuable time, but because it makes every forkful of manure count for a bigger crop yield.

Manure goes farther and does more good when you use a John Deere Spreader. You can spread manure evenly, heavy or light—so under-fertilized or over-fertilized spots.

Come in and see this better spreader. Here are a few things about its operating advantages we want to show you.

You get a low down spreader with high drive wheels. It is easy to load from the front to the rear and because of the high drive wheels and roller bearings it is light draft—a most valuable combination.

No clutches—no chains—few adjustments to cause trouble—and it is extremely simple—only about half the parts that are necessary on the ordinary spreader.

The main working parts are mounted on the rear axle, where they cannot get out of line to cause binding, heavy draft and breakage.

The beater drive is much like the simple triple-gear drive. The gears are enclosed and run in an oil bath.

There are so many other good features about this spreader that we want you to see it. You will quickly see why there are so many satisfied users of John Deere spreaders.
